

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

AOC Launches "Rivio" 2230Fm Widescreen LCD Monitor with built-in Digital Media Player

Sydney, Australia (16 July 2008) – The new Rivio 22" TFT monitor from AOC combines technology and ergonomics in a highly attractive design.

The stylish monitor has a unique design facet – the back is clad in black aluminium bodywork embossed with a "diamond cut" texture that gives it a look and feel more usually associated with luxury goods. "Piano Black" glossy finish on the rest of the body takes it beyond the bland office equipment styling.

The on-screen control menu is in vivid multicolour moving away from dull monochrome menus to full colour panel display. Menu navigation also gets a makeover: Rivio 2230Fm has a shiny multidirectional "Navi Ring" instead of the traditional row of buttons.

The Rivio 2230Fm has VGA, DVI and HDMI inputs, a 2-port USB hub and an integral Digital Media Player so users can play videos, music and slideshows even when their PC is powered off or disconnected. The DMP accepts a range of popular memory card types as well as USB storage devices.

AOC has also released a lower-priced Rivio 2230Fa model, without the media player or HDMI input, but with the same remarkable exterior design.

The Rivio series is Windows Vista Premium ready. The 2230Fm will be available from all AOC distributors in August.
